Rent-to-Own Price Controls

Six states—California, Hawaii, Maine, New York, Vermont and West Virginia—have enacted legislation that fixes both cash prices and total rent-to-own prices for dealers. The maximum cash price that dealers can charge is fixed as a multiplier of the dealer's wholesale cost and varies according to product category. The total rent-to-own price is then capped at a multiplier of the cash price. This chart sets forth the limits on cash price and total rent-to-own price by state.
